About

Riffi is a magazine about making music using modern technology.

Riffi is written for people, who are truly devoted to their musical activities – as a hobby or profession. Riffi is published seven times a year, and each issue has around 80 pages filled with useful information. Reviews of new instruments, software and other pieces of equipment play a major role in our publication. Articles dealing with the basic theory of different related subjects – from room acoustics to the use of current computer-based applications – give Riffi a definite competitive edge. Each issue offers our readers valuable information and interesting insights into the world of music making – be it onstage or in the studio.

Riffi caters to people truly devoted to their music. When general product information and basic common knowledge just isn't enough, we step into the picture. Our loyal and steadily growing readership speaks for itself.

Reductions

Reduction based on a one-year contract:

Two advertisements booked	-10%
Three advertisements booked	-15%
Four advertisements booked	-20%
Five advertisements booked	-25%
Six advertisements booked	-30%
Seven or more advertisements booked	-30%

+ a special bonus.

Special bonus means free space for use in the seventh issue of the contract period, usually in the last issue of the year. The size of the free space is related to the total amount of ads published during the contract period. For example, seven whole page ads will gain one half-page for free.

Reductions are valid, when all advertisements are booked in writing at the same time.

If the number of advertisements is reduced during the contract period, the customer will be charged according to the actual number of advertisements placed.

We grant a 15% reduction to authorized PR-agencies. This reduction cannot be combined with other reductions.

Cancelling the advertisement

Cancellation has to be done at least one week before the date for material delivery (except force majeure). If the advertisement is cancelled after this date, the customer will be charged for the reserved space.

Responsibility and complaints

The publisher is not responsible for any damages (direct or indirect), caused by unpublished advertisements due to technical or other reasons not depending on the publisher.

The responsibility of the magazine is limited to cover the actual price of the advertisement.

The publisher is not responsible for possible errors included in the original file supplied by the advertiser.

All complaints have to be made within eight days after the actual publishing date.

All prices quoted are in euros. All additional costs for material and labour, as well as VAT, will be added.

Idemco Oy reserves the right to change these specifications without further notice.
